

Directory of infrastructure organisations for the voluntary and community sector in England

Written by Peter Bates, peter.bates96@outlook.com

Introduction

The following pages list national and local infrastructure organisations in England that provide development support to the third sector – voluntary, community and faith groups and organisations.

This sector has been subject to seismic changes in the last thirty years. Community directories and volunteer placing services have gone online, neighbourhood organisations have closed or merged and grant funding has shrunk, forcing organisations that formerly offered free information to all to charge members for services. Some local authorities have taken over and manage the service themselves, weakening independent challenge in the sector. Tighter competition for funding and volunteer hours has hit collaboration between community organisations. The internet is littered with legacy websites marking the spot where community groups have died.

As a simple challenge to this fragmentation, the following list provides free access to contact details for infrastructure organisations that have weathered the storm and continue to believe that we are better together. If a more complete and accurate listing is already available for free use by the public, then please let me know, as well as sending me improvements, additions and corrections .

Limitations

A few eligible organisations provide an online form rather than an email address and so have not yet been included. The pace of change is such that this list may fall out of date quickly.

How this paper is being written

The investigation that generated this paper is driven by simple curiosity. The work is unfunded and is conducted as a piece of citizen science rather than under the control of any organisation.

Accountability is achieved by following the How to write in public framework<sup>1</sup>. I am grateful to the people<sup>2</sup> who have contributed to this evolving resource. Please send me your suggestions for further improvements.
